

SALE OF LOTTERIES BUSINESS IN LINE WITH STRATEGY

Sydney, Tuesday, 2 September 2014

Aristocrat Leisure Limited (ASX: ALL) today announced that it has entered into an agreement with Playtech Plc (LSE: PTEC) for the sale of the Aristocrat Lotteries business for total consideration of €10.5 million in cash, subject to certain adjustments and closing conditions.

Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director of Aristocrat, Jamie Odell said “With the recently announced acquisition of Video Gaming Technologies Inc., Aristocrat is sharpening its focus on the business’ strategic strengths. In particular, we will continue to leverage our premium game content across priority, high value segments and markets, including North American gaming operations, digital and core outright sale markets.

“The sale of the lotteries business will allow management to focus on these growth areas to deliver optimal returns on the Group’s Design & Development spend.

“The Company will work with Playtech to ensure there is a smooth transition for employees and customers.” Mr Odell concluded.

The sale will result in a non-cash write off of approximately A$45 million in the current financial year, subject to adjustments. This will primarily relate to the carrying value of intangibles and foreign exchange losses currently recognised in equity, which will be reclassified to the profit and loss on completion of the sale. Completion of the sale is expected in the current financial year.
